MAJOR HIGHLIGHT

Performance Pavilion

Logan Park is one of the most used parks in Minneapolis. Not only for various athletics but also for picnics and community gatherings. Yet, the park did not have a picnic shelter. Logan Park neighborhood resident, Clark Bremer, proposed a timber-framed picnic shelter like the one he designed and built in nearby Beltrami Park. This proposal was enthusiastically supported by community members - who put a new spin on the idea. Since there are no outdoor performance venues in the NE Arts District, we asked Clark if he could design the structure to be 'dual purpose' – a picnic shelter AND a performance space. Clark, his fellow artisans, Spark-Y youth workers, the Edison football team, many neighbors and park supporters from across Minneapolis came together to build the pavilion in August 2021. The first official performance was in October 2021 though the pavilion had been used daily since the roof was finished! Financial support was also provided by People for Parks, Northeast Lions, Eastside Exchange Club, Elim Church, the Tankenoff Family Foundation and many grassroots donations. This project was a true community effort. LPNA is hoping to work with MPRB and arts supporters to fund a multi-cultural performance series in 2022 and beyond.

Logan Park Shelter Initiative

The Logan Park Shelter Initiative was created to respond to and learn from summer 2020 encampments in Logan Park. We sought to understand the current causes and potential solutions and strategies facing unsheltered neighbors in and around the Logan Park neighborhood. A diverse and representative group from the Logan Park area (including members with lived experience of homelessness) took part in the initiative.

The cohort met five times to discuss specific topics with pre-meeting "homework" consisting of reading materials, news articles, podcasts and videos. The first phase of meetings focused on coalition building within the cohort to better understand the nature of homelessness, unsheltered individuals and families, and the role local agencies hold. The second phase of meetings transitioned into more research-oriented tasks and included speaker invitations to several elected officials and program and service providers in the Twin Cities.

A summary report was then created and shared on the LPNA website which summarized the meetings, membership, topics, supporting materials and additional actions for consideration by LPNA. The initiative and report was then presented at a LPNA general meeting attended by our Senator Kari Dziedzic, House Member Sydney Jordan and City Council member Elliot Payne - all of whom expressed that this was important work for a neighborhood organization and that they would be sharing the document with other council members and officials.

We believe that this initiative deepened our understanding and connections in the community, is informing our work going forward and that the approach, information and materials gathered could also be used by other neighborhood organizations.
